

Combining property exposures with your wider risk portfolio to unlock true cross-class dynamic insights

From political uncertainty to extreme cat events, today's world poses a new challenge to the cross-class Commercial and Specialty insurance market. Organisations that wish to excel in this environment will use tech and data to create a single, consolidated view of their physical exposures. Insurwave can help you drive:

Accelerated submission ingestion and data onboarding

Deploy AI-powered ingestion and enrichment of bound portfolios as you write or renew business, driving quicker speed to insight.

Quality alerting & enrichment

Benefit from automatic identification of data, quality concerns, exceptions or red flags.

Combined aggregate positions

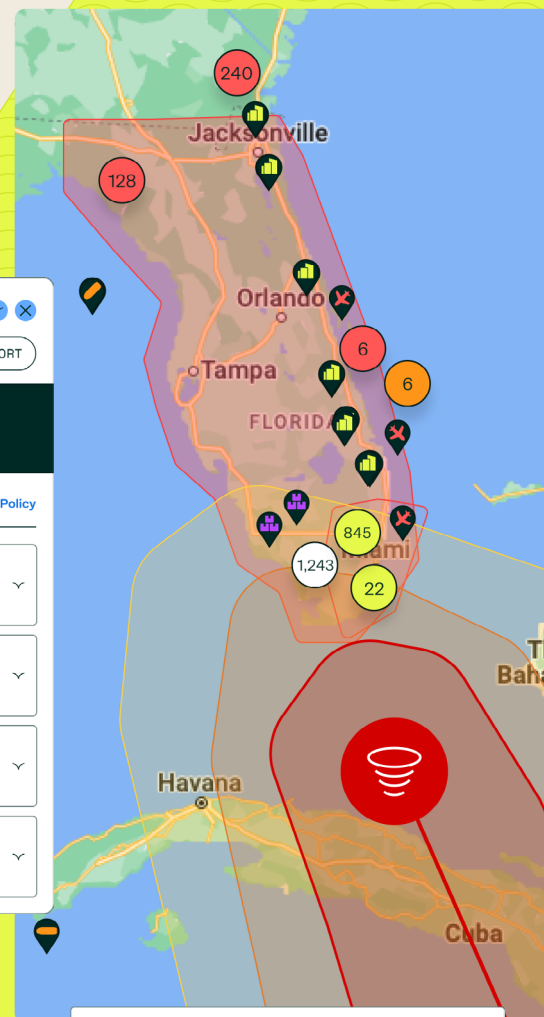

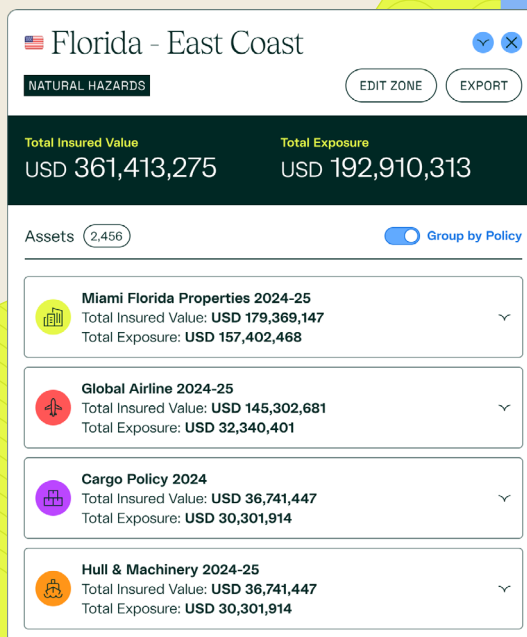

Quickly understand your full inventory of cross-class assets and total potential exposures.

Live monitoring and analysis of your portfolio

Proactively monitor threats and hazard events as they unfold to inform loss modelling scenarios and appropriate event responses for clients in their time of need.

Predictive analytics

Apply AI-driven interrogation of multiple data sources to curate new generative underwriting insights across markets, geographies and accounts.

Priority Alert
Natural Disaster - Category 5 Hurricane

Manage your property and other close proximity exposures with confidence

“Our collaboration with Insurwave bolsters our vision to create a data-driven exposure management team that can provide our underwriters with precise information at the point of pricing. Insurwave’s platform gives us the tools to do that.”

Chris Weller
HEAD OF EXPOSURE MANAGEMENT
AT INIGO INSURANCE

Embracing the future

As geopolitical turmoil continues, the insurance industry must embrace technology as a vital ally. By enhancing risk assessment and improving operational efficiency, technology not only supports insurers in navigating current uncertainties but also prepares them for future challenges.

Want to find out more?

Evaluate your transformation journey

- Are you struggling to process your submissions from multiple classes efficiently?
- Are you confident in the quality of the data you're making underwriting decisions on?
- Are you able to gain a single view of your portfolio exposures across your different classes?

If these questions resonate with you, it might be the perfect time to connect with us to accelerate your progress.